

Pentecost, a prayer

By Steve Garnaas-Holmes, USA

You breathe in.
You breathe out.
You breathe fire,
the making of stars,
the winds of creation.
You breathe a Word
that goes out
and lays hands on people
to heal and bless.
You breathe God in.
and God out.
You speak grace
in tongues you can't know.
Look at us,
walking around,
glowing embers.

Visit Steve's blog, Unfolding Light, at <https://www.unfoldinglight.net>, "a daily reflection rooted in a contemplative, Creation-centered spirituality, often inspired by my daily walk in the woods."

Re-printed with permission from the author.